LINGA Co., the world's first psycholinguistics technology company, has launched a new digital solution called A Lil' PR. The digital solution is designed to help business professionals and smaller businesses protect and preserve their digital identities at an affordable price.

For all major news-worthy events, LINGA Co. will deploy their team of psycholinguistics experts to prepare, publish, and promote a branded PDF press release that characterizes the event accordingly. All releases are published and promoted on their website, <https://alilpr.com>, where visitors can search all published press releases according to the entity or keyword. LINGA Co. will even handle incoming correspondence and work with you on a response, if necessary.

About LINGA Co.

LINGA Co. is a psycholinguistics technology company that provides authorship identity verification as a service via our proprietary Linguistic Fingerprint™ technology. Through the LINGA Co. web application, guests complete writing prompts in order to build their Linguistic Fingerprint™. Once built, guests can discover their true selves as expressed in the form-factor of writing. Guests can also scan written documents in order to generate a unique Authorship Verification Certificate, which is certified by LINGA Co. and available as a downloadable PDF file. This certificate indicates whether or not the scanned document matches the guest's Linguistic Fingerprint™, and is backed by our $1,000,000 Authorship Integrity Defense GuaranteeSM (Terms apply.). Individual guests can use solutions by LINGA Co. to verify and defend authorship integrity for important written works like books, articles, papers, speeches, and more.
